

Learning Consultancy Partnership

Who we are

The Learning Consultancy Partnership provides high quality, tailored and bespoke training and development solutions for fast-growing businesses in the UK.

We specialise in working with medium sized high-growth companies and undertake regular research and interviews with business leaders to understand the unique challenges facing this market, including mergers and organisational changes. You can see our research reports on our website at www.lcp.org.uk/articles.html

Our team of consultants are highly experienced professionals, with diverse and long-tenured business backgrounds from a range of blue-chip and SME companies, and across both private and public sectors.

How we can help

Our research has given us a clear insight into the specific training and development needs of growth businesses – and an understanding of how critical this training is to ensuring your company's success.

We know, for example, that leaders in fast-growing companies are often too 'hands-on' and need help to adjust to their roles in a rapidly expanding company. We also know that finding a convenient time for training is not easy in a fast-paced environment and so we offer evening or even weekend training, for total flexibility.

We combine professional expertise and hands on business experience with our specialist market knowledge to design and implement a training and development solution tailored to your company. We deliver a first-class consultancy experience at reasonable rates.

What other people say about us

"Our staff were very pleased with the personal, team and management development training sessions facilitated by LCP, which were professionally delivered with due sensitivity and understanding of our organisational changes and staff needs. We would not hesitate in recommending LCP to anyone in our business network."

Sadie Mason, Partnership Director, Sussex County Sports Partnership Trust.

"Thank you for the excellent workshop that you delivered. All the feedback received has been very positive. The delegates have been given plenty of ideas to help in the delivery of their own workshops and their confidence has improved."

Marion Curdy, Training Officer, Information Services, University of Brighton
